

BOOK BOX: Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Blackman, Malorie: Unheard voices: a collection of stories and poems to commemorate the 200th anniversary of the abolition of the slave trade act

246p. Corgi Books 2007

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Byron, Ken: Racism and resistance - The Triangular Trade: active learning materials for anti-racist education in Drama, English and Humanities

Teaching pack containing 16 items 2D Management Committee

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Copy 2 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This is a pack of resource materials, with background information and teaching ideas, for a substantial cross-curricular project in upper primary or secondary schools. The materials examine the Triangular trade and the struggle for abolition and emancipation. It avoids oversimplification and examines black people's response to their oppression as active agents not merely victims.

Cathy Midwinter editor: Guidance for Key Stage 3 - History

11p. Development Education Association 1996

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Booklet for teachers and advisers with guidance on teaching and learning about development and global issues

Asian workers' struggle for justice in the diaspora

66p. LONDEC

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A teaching pack for KS3/4 that brings together the struggle of Asian Indentured labourers, seamen, railway workers and factory workers in Britain. It shows how British Immigration Acts have affected the lives of Asian workers and the rationales for migrations from South Asia. The pack also shows how Asian women have confronted the immigration laws and racism in the workplace.

Anti-Slavery International: Changing face of slavery

60p booklet + video recording. Anti-Slavery International 1997

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This is an education pack which investigates the Trans-Atlantic slave trade and child labour. It includes two 15 minute films on a video. Part 1 (15 mins) investigates the Transatlantic Slave Trade, how and why it began and the arguments for and against its abolition. It encourages students to examine their understanding of slavery issues and looks at its existence in today's world.

Part 2 (15 mins) looks at children working in Britain during the Industrial Revolution, why they worked and what life was like. It links the historical with the contemporary by exploring child labour around the world today, the reasons and the alternatives. The theme of child rights runs throughout.

The pack also contains 40 pages of photocopiable support material for teachers. It raises challenging questions and introduces new ideas, helping students tackle the subjects of slavery and human rights. It is suitable for Key Stage 3. It is directly linked to the National Curriculum, and it can be used with History, RE, PHSE, Modern Studies and English.

Cameron, Gail / Crooke, Stan: Liverpool - capital of the slave trade, 1st edition

72p. Picton Press 1992

Copy 5 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This booklet deals with the significance of the slave trade in the history of Liverpool. In particular, it looks at how Liverpool writers of the eighteenth century sought to justify the town's involvement in the slave trade. A concluding section shows how Liverpool's historians have obscured the role played by the town as the capital of the British slave trade.

By the beginning of the nineteenth century, Liverpool had control of 90% of Britain's share of the slave trade. Slave traders belonged to the most affluent and powerful sections of society. This book traces the central place of slavery in the foundations of Liverpool's wealth and institutions, and the spin-off in Liverpool's hinterland, including Manchester. It describes the opposition of leading members of society to the abolition of the slave trade and the attempts to justify the trade.

King, Reyahn (ed): Ignatius Sancho: an African man of letters, 1st ed.

124p. National Portrait Gallery Publications 1997

Copy 2 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This collection of essays was inspired by an exhibition held at the British National Portrait Gallery 24 January-11 May 1997. It details the life of Ignatius Sancho. Born on a slave ship, he became a valet, a writer, a musician, a Methodist and a grocer. His life shows what lifestyles were possible (and were not possible) in eighteenth century Britain. He moved from being a servant to the Duchess of Montagu, to becoming a correspondent with Laurence Sterne, a sitter to Thomas Gainsborough and a friend of David Garrick. Through his career it is possible to look at the underside of polite society and the wider issue of cultural assimilation in Britain.

Renton, Linnea: Colonialism and its legacy

72p. Manchester Development Education Project 1996

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Produced by the Southern Voices Project, this is a valuable resource for work on aspects of history and geography for KS3/4. Sections focus on the South before colonialism; European expansion; social and economic impacts; independence and neo-colonialism. Differentiated lesson ideas and resources are included.

Twells, Alison: Colonialism, slavery and the industrial revolution

4 items in pack Development Education Centre 1992

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A teaching pack designed for KS3. Explores the relationship between Britain's industrial evolution and colonialism in the Caribbean, Ireland and India; contains a teacher's book, documents and activity-based exercises. Includes profiles of Olaudah Equiano; Nanny of the Maroons; and patterns of resistance across the Empire.

Bygott, David W.: Black and British

80p. Oxford University Press 1996

Copy 2 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Copy 3 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This book provides an account of the history of the Afro-Caribbean community in Britain. It describes the struggle for freedom and dignity, both in the Caribbean and Britain; looks at the achievements of individuals, past and present; and looks at how racism remains, as it has done in the past, as an everyday fact of life. Contains great photographs.

Education Development Service: Black People in Warwickshire's past

40p. Educational Development Service 1994

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This booklet shows the presence of black people in Warwickshire over several hundred years (1600-1914); the role of black people in the county's history and the gains that the country has accrued from its association with the wider world.

Institute of Race Relations: How racism came to Britain: book 3 / Institute of Race Relations

44p. Institute of Race Relations 1985

Copy 4 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Cartoon format showing the origins of slavery and immigration to Britain.

Simkin, John: Expansion, trade and industry time-line

40p. Spartacus Educational 1996

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A timeline of important events in British and World history from 1700-1898.

Simkin, John: Expansion, trade and industry resource book

171p. Spartacus Educational

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A collection of primary source materials which can be used in teaching about the period of the Empire.

Simkin, John: Expansion, trade and industry

80p. Spartacus Educational 1993

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Earle, Jonathan: Routledge atlas of African American history 1st ed.

144p. Routledge 2000

Copy 3 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

This book gives a concise and authoritative summary of African American history which focuses on African Americans actively resisting the racism of American society to create their own history. Includes many maps, tables and photographs. Covers such rare topics as the African American move to the Western States – the Exodusters; the Buffalo soldiers, the Negro Baseball League, the first African American Newspapers and Churches, musical traditions, etc.

Koslow, Philip: Benin: lords of the river

63p. Chelsea House Publishers 1996

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Sheehan, Sean: Benin and other African Kingdoms

64p. Wayland (Publishers) Ltd 1998

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Chambers, Catherine: History of emigration from Africa

32p. Franklin Watts 1996

Copy 2 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Detailed history of how, when and why Africans have emigrated from the continent to other parts of the world, with much emphasis on slavery and the slave trade. It also discusses the different cultures and religions that Africans have taken with them and how they have been modified in the countries they have settled in. It includes photographs, drawings, diagrams and maps and is suitable for older primary and secondary school pupils.

Ibazebo, Isimeme: Exploration into Africa

48p. Belitha Press 1994

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

Johal, Sarbjit: India fights Colonialism

83p. LONDEC 1995

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A teaching pack for KS3/4. Documents the strategies of resistance used by anti-colonial movements in India; highlights changes in British colonial policy and practice. There is a particular focus on women's involvement. Uses interviews, plays, songs, testimonies and photographs.

Elizabeth Frostick editor: Slavery: living history

91p. ELM Publications

Copy 2 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A fact pack containing replicas of original pictures, photographs, broadsheets, political tracts, newspaper articles, songs and poems, letters, accounts and returns all relating to Britain's involvement in the slave trade and the Caribbean.

Amnesty International: Long march to freedom: some of the people whose ideas, writing and action have played a part in the struggle for human rights and justice around the world across the centuries / Dan Jones editor,

Amnesty International 1998

Copy 1 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900

A timeline of some of the people whose ideas, writings and actions have played a part in the struggle for human rights and justice across the world.

Marij van Helmond, Loraine Knowles and John Manley eds.: North west labour history journal of the north west labour history group: Black presence in the north west

100p. North West Labour History Group 1996

Copy 3 - BOOK BOX Britain trade and Empire 1750-1900 A collection of articles that document the radical and labour history of the North West region in Britain, with a particular focus on Manchester and Liverpool. The journal includes articles that consider the contributions of Black people in such histories. Articles include 'The 1945 Manchester Pan-African Congress' by Hakim Adi and 'West Africans, Black Scousers and the colour problem in inter-war Liverpool' by Diane Frost.